

A Special Note to Persons in Positions of Power

Amorous or sexual relationships are inappropriate and illegal when they occur between an offender and any staff member, contractor, representative, or volunteer.

Offenders depend upon staff to provide for their board and care, ensure their safety, address their health care needs, supervise their work and conduct, and act as role models for socially-acceptable behavior.

Because of the difference in power between offenders and staff, contractors, representatives and volunteers, there can never be a consensual relationship between the two entities. Here are some factors to consider:

- ◆ Some offenders have a history of victimization, particularly in their formative years, which may make them especially vulnerable to the sexual overtures of persons in positions of authority. Their perception of affection/love may be skewed by this background of abuse, making it impossible for them to refuse the advances of a staff member.
- ◆ In some instances, particularly for female offenders, their survival in the community has been directly related to using their sexuality to obtain the means to support themselves. Coupled with low self-esteem, this carries over into their conduct in prison and while under community supervision.

Occasionally an offender tries to use sex to improve his/her standing or circumstances (e.g. better job, avoid disciplinary action, effect a transfer, gain privileges, etc...) However, as the person in authority, it is the staff member's responsibility to discourage and refuse any overtures as well as maintain professional boundaries at all times.

A staff member's personal and professional reputation may be jeopardized because of unprofessional conduct. Their effectiveness as agents of Anne Arundel County Department of Detention Facilities, their careers, and even their families can be negatively impacted or destroyed.

Boundaries in relationships can be difficult. If you question your professional boundaries with an offender or feel uncomfortable with his/her actions or advances toward you, talk to another person you respect or bring this matter to the attention of your supervisor before it gets out of control.

PREA—Waddaya Know???

On September 4, 2003, President George W. Bush signed into law S. 1435, the "Prison Rape Elimination Act of 2003 (PREA)". The Act was created to eradicate and eliminate rape within corrections. The Act provides for analysis of the incidence and effects of prison rape in Federal, State, and Local institutions, and for information, resources, recommendations, and funding to protect individuals from prison rape.

Sexual Misconduct With Offenders

Prison Rape Elimination Act

A guide for staff, contractors, and volunteers of the Anne Arundel County Department of Detention Facilities

Anne Arundel County
Department of Detention Facilities
Training Unit

An Issue of Power

Anne Arundel County Department of Detention Facilities policy specifically forbids any activity associated with, or that promotes acts of sexual conduct, including sexual harassment between offenders and the Anne Arundel County Department of Detention Facilities staff. In this definition, “staff” includes: contractors, representatives, or volunteers of the Anne Arundel County Department of Detention Facilities as well as staff from other federal, state, or local jurisdictions. An “offender” means someone incarcerated in a correctional facility or under supervision in the community.

Sexual Misconduct can be defined as behavior of a sexual nature. The result is a breach of the professional relationship that exists between staff and an offender. Sexual misconduct distinctly alters the boundary between professional roles and personal relationships—personal elements are then introduced into what should be a sex-neutral situation. Forms of sexual misconduct include, but are not limited to:

- ◆ Attempts to engage in a sexual act with any offender’s genitalia, anus, groin, breast, inner thigh, and/or buttocks with the intent to abuse, humiliate, harass, degrade, arouse, or gratify the sexual desire of another person.
- ◆ Any solicitation of sexual activity through promises of favors and/or threatening an offender for refusing sexual advances.
- ◆ Invasion of privacy beyond what is reasonably necessary for safety and security, including disrespectful, unduly familiar, or threatening comments made to offenders.

Sexual misconduct, including sexual harassment, is a serious offense—and is pursuant to Administrative Directive 06.06.

Depending on the investigation findings of an alleged incident, disciplinary action may result in dismissal and the advanced possibility of criminal charges. In addition, persons accused of sexual harassment in civil or criminal proceedings may be held personally liable for damages to the person harassed.

Sexual Harassment can take many forms including, but not limited to:

- ◆ Sexual comments about one’s body.
- ◆ Repeated staring, comments, and/or propositions of a sexual nature.
- ◆ Conversations filled with sexually suggestive innuendoes or double meanings.
- ◆ Display or transmittal of sexually suggestive posters, objects, or messages.
- ◆ Demands for acts of a sexual nature.
- ◆ Physical sexual assault.
- ◆ Request for sex in exchange for favors.

Sexual harassment is any sexual behavior that adversely affects an offender’s environment as it pertains to his/her responsibilities of incarceration or supervision. It can occur without conscious intent and is not limited to explicit demands for sex.

Sexual misconduct and sexual harassment are an abuse of power. No one can predict when romantic or sexual feelings will occur between two people, but acting on those feelings by becoming involved with an offender is unprofessional and unacceptable conduct.

As an Anne Arundel County Department of Detention Facilities employee, contractor, representative, or volunteer, your designated assignments place you in a position of authority over the offenders with whom you interact in a professional capacity. It is not possible to have a relationship as equals because you have a responsibility to maintain custody, evaluate work performance, and/or provide input to issues that affect release dates, return to prison, or other sanctions.

Some Other Things to Consider

- ◆ Amorous or sexual relationships with an offender are seldom a secret. Such behavior will undermine your professional career by subjecting you to disrespect and manipulation from other offenders that may be aware of your situation.
- ◆ Once in a relationship, professional judgment becomes clouded and the normal defenses that exist to protect you will be compromised. When acting on emotions, you may take actions that would otherwise be considered inappropriate in a correctional environment (either in custody or in the community).
- ◆ Others will be judging your decisions for professionalism and trustworthiness. Your conduct and the decisions you make reflect not only on your own reputation, but also on that of your peers and the agency you represent.
- ◆ Romantic or sexual relationships often end with bitter feelings. If that occurs, you may be vulnerable to a host of problems—such as loss of respect from your peers, a damaged reputation, and loss of employment.

Engaging in any form of over familiar activity with an offender is unprofessional conduct and in violation of department policy.